

Important! Banco de la Republica's call for the Study Abroad Program is now open

You can apply between 1 December 2022 and 28 April 2023. Learn more about the new programs here.

From 1 December to 28 April, the application process for the Study Abroad Program 2023 will be open. This call offers two new master's degree programs: Public Administration and Public Policy. Additionally, the sponsorship in PhD in Economics, Economic Law, and young talent (visual arts) will be maintained.

This program aims to promote the training of national professionals in such a way that the country can have a greater number of highly qualified professors, researchers, public officials, and artists.

The available places will be distributed as follows:

- 3 places for people who have already been accepted in doctoral programs in Economics
- 2 places for people who have already been accepted in a Master's degree program in Public Administration or in Public Policy
- 1 place in Economic Law
- 1 place in visual arts for young people

These places will be redistributed according to the methodology established by Banco de la República (the Central Bank of Colombia).

Check all requirements and conditions and start the application process early.
